Standing the length of time, Jasmine has been one of the best gourmet restaurants in the Bellagio since its opening nearly 20 years ago. We offer diverse yet accommodating Chinese cuisine, featuring live seafood, fusion and traditional Cantonese fare, while surrounded by the world's renowned Bellagio Fountain Show.

A Hong Kong native, Kai Wa Yau, got his start in the culinary industry at a young age working in his family's restaurant. His early start and passion for cooking the foods he grew up with has given him the opportunity to work at some of the country's best Cantonese establishments.

After working in his family's restaurant where he built his technique and knowledge of running a kitchen, Yau decided to take on roles at fine dining establishments throughout Hong Kong and the United States, including San Francisco's Harbor Village where he crafted fresh seafood dishes and the fine dining venue's popular dim sum menu.

In 1988, Yau, looking for new opportunities in a growing city, headed to Las Vegas. He took on the role of training and leading the back of house staff for Empress Court, a new Chinese restaurant at Caesars Palace Hotel & Casino. With Yau leading the kitchen, Empress Court was named one of the “10 Best Chinese Restaurants in the United States” by USA Today.

Yau accepted the role of Executive Chef at Jasmine inside Bellagio in 2017. At Jasmine, Yau uses over 40 years of experience to cater to all guests' palates. His dishes range from playful twists on classic Cantonese cuisine to traditional plates he grew up making in Hong Kong. Yau strives to ensure every guest at Jasmine receives a memorable experience.

After working his way up on a transatlantic cruise liner, Sirio Maccioni dazzled New York City with his charm and acumen for hospitality. At the famed Colony Club as a maître d'hôtel in the late 1960s, Maccioni developed his first taste for the restaurant business. Then in 1974, Maccioni opened what was destined to become a landmark—Le Cirque, which literally translates as "the circus" in French—at the Mayfair Hotel in New York and eventually at Bellagio.

Although over the years, monkeys, circus balls and tent shades have become symbolic representations of the restaurant, Le Cirque's most recognizable feature is Sirio Maccioni himself. Staying very much a family-owned business, all three of Maccioni's sons—Mario, Marco and Mauro—followed in their father's footsteps.
Restaurant Information

Experience the timeless sensation created by charismatic restaurateur Sirio Maccioni. The rarity of Le Cirque’s 14th consecutive year AAA Five Diamond rating speaks eloquently of French cuisine—exquisite, bold, transcendent. Immerse yourself in a jubilant showing of brilliant color adorning this famed lakeside destination designed by Adam D. Tihany. Exuding a celebratory mood, Le Cirque’s opulent dining room is enhanced with coveted wine and attentive service, which come together to amuse your taste buds in celebrated Maccioni family fashion.

Chef Akira Back

Chef Akira Back began his cooking career while shredding through Aspen as a professional snowboarder. He cooked in local restaurants to supplement his income and quickly found that this whole chef thing was pretty far out. So, after seven years on the slopes, he ditched the snowboard for a cutting board.

After graduating from The International Culinary School at The Art Institute of Colorado, Back was recruited to travel from Aspen to Austin to Kona opening a series of restaurants. His love for travel and culinary exploration would eventually take him through Europe and Japan where he learned the value of using rare and exotic ingredients.

In 2003, Chef Nobu Matsuhisa hired Back as Executive Chef at his namesake restaurant. Over the next five years, Back developed a deep appreciation for Nobu-san’s style of cuisine, which seamlessly blends traditional Japanese techniques with Western ingredients.

Back opened Yellowtail at Bellagio in 2007. Today, you can see Chef Back on Food Network’s “Iron Chef America” and “Best Thing I Ever Ate,” as well as Cooking Channel’s “United Tastes of America.”

“Yellowtail is so much more than sushi—it’s a modern expression of authentic Japanese cuisine that we put our heart into.” – Chef Akira Back

Chef Jonah Resnick

Chef Jonah Resnick was born and raised in Chicago, Illinois. After graduating from Denison University in 2004, he discovered his passion for the culinary arts when he began working at Bistro 110. In 2007, Resnick’s passion led him to pursue employment with one of New York City’s top chefs, Daniel Boulud. During his year at Boulud’s flagship restaurant, Daniel, Resnick worked as a Commis as well as on the rotisserie station. After his time at Daniel, Resnick found himself back in Chicago at Blackbird, one of the city’s top restaurants, where he quickly became Sous Chef.

In 2011, Resnick was notified of an opportunity with Major Food Group in New York City. He met with Mario Carbone and Rich Torrisi of the restaurant group and was hired as a Sous Chef at Torrisi Italian Specialties. Only two years later, Resnick began to focus all his attention to Carbone as Executive Sous Chef, and he was promoted to Chef de Cuisine in July of 2013. In 2014, Resnick helped open another Carbone in Hong Kong and was later promoted to Corporate Chef of the Carbone Brand.

Chef Resnick moved to Las Vegas to open Carbone at ARIA Resort & Casino in 2015 and is now overseeing the culinary operations of Sadelle's Las Vegas at Bellagio.
